Withdrawn Objection

Claim Objection

3. Claim 2 is no longer objected to because the two terms, phospholipase A2 and transforming growth B induced protein have been properly spelled in the amendment submitted November 25, 2009.

New Grounds and Maintained Grounds of Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

9. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

10. Claims 1, 2, 8-12, 19-21 and 25-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a. In claims 1, 19 and 20 it is not clear if SEQ ID NO: 108 is assigned or designated as the cystatin SN (CST1) protein or the CST1 peptide. Applicants should clarify.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

11. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

12. Claims 1, 2, 8-12, 19-21, 25-27 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Afar et al./ U.S. Patent Application Publication number US 003/0232350 A1 (filed November 13, 2002). The publication discloses a method of immunodiagnosing stomach cancer comprising identifying and comparing diagnostic markers listed in Table 2A including cystatin SN (SEQ ID NO: 108), see page 36, line 60; page 88, line 33; the sequence alignment following the instant rejection; page 10, section 0067; and page 19, section 0158. The diagnostic markers are detected in biological samples include blood, plasma, serum and stool, see page 14, section 0096. Diagnostic assays implemented include standard immunoassays, such as ELISAs using antibodies capable of detecting polypeptides and peptides, see page 19, sections 0157, 0158; page 20, section 0161; and page 22, section 0175. A number of markers are evaluated for differential expression between normal and cancerous tissues, see page 10, section 0067-page 11, section 0071.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

13. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

14. Claims 1, 2, 8-12, 19-21 and 25-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Afar et al./ U.S. Patent Application Publication number US 003/0232350 A1 (filed November 13, 2002), and further in view of Mack et al./ U.S. Patent Application Publication number US 2004/0076955 A1 (filed July 2, 2002) and Clarke et al./ U.S. Patent Application Publication number US 2006/0019256 A1 (effective filing date June 9, 2003). The teachings of Afar have been set forth in the preceding 102(e) rejection. This publication does not teach measuring overexpression of the multitude of markers set forth in dependent claims 2, 21 and 28-30.

Moreover, Clark teaches characterizing and diagnosing cancer by assessing several markers, serine or cysteine proteinase inhibitor clade B (SERPINB5), secreted acidic cysteine-rich protein (SPARC) see page 12, lines 2 and the 25th line from the bottom of the page and serine or cysteine proteinase inhibitor clade H (SERPINH1), see page 13, line 16. It would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to include these cancer markers designated in Mack and Clarke for gastric cancer diagnosis. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to use these particular markers because the secondary references teach these markers' upregulated expression is consistent with solid tumors, such as gastrointestinal cancer, see Clarke page 5, section 0050.

Conclusion

15. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
